BENEFITS OF ONLINE AND BORDERLESS EDUCATION

- Gain an internationally recognised university qualification and improve your career options while still balancing your work and home commitments
- Have greater control of modules by replaying or rereading any lessons you’re not clear about
- Access modules anywhere and at any time with no limitations and restrictions on time and location of study\(^1\)
- Save time and money by minimising travel costs
- Higher education study is a rewarding and enriching experience that brings about significant professional and personal development.

\(^1\) An internet connection is required.
Massey University was established as an agricultural college in 1927 and became a university in 1964. We have a long and proud tradition of academic and research excellence and play a defining role in the development of New Zealand, as well as many countries around the world.

Advances in technology mean a transformational change in education is taking place. There is enormous growth in demand from students for borderless education delivered online or in-country. Massey University is well positioned to meet this demand because of our long history of distance and online education and our strong relationships with many corporations, governments and educational institutions developed worldwide over many years.

WHAT YOU CAN STUDY

To meet growing demand from students living around the world, Massey University is expanding its international delivery by distance education in many of our degrees and qualifications.

The following information highlights a sample of our undergraduate and postgraduate programmes.

More details on the range of these and our other online and borderless programmes for international students is available at massey.ac.nz/borderless
