

SRA UPDATES FOR 2021

Kia ora,

It always astonishes me how fast the year goes and that we're already advancing towards the end of term 2. We are grateful as always to have your support, enjoy being out at your schools, and meeting your awesome students. As well as expos and school visits that provide opportunities for students to make informed future choices, we have some great upcoming events that your students also may be interested in...

Campus Tours

This is a great opportunity to explore both our Auckland and Manawātū campus and learn more about studying at Massey. During the one-hour tour led by a Massey staff member, you will get to explore some of the great learning, teaching and research facilities and social spaces available to Massey students. These are ideally suited for Year 11-13 high school students and their families and whānau. Students can register below.

UPDATES FROM AROUND THE COLLEGES

PACE

Our delivery over the summer semester will predominantly be via distance with the exception of the core courses that will be offered via distance and internal (192040, 041, 042, 043) and 247007 Foundation Chemistry and 247008 Foundation Physics will be offered internal only.

We will be adhering to the max 30 credit rule as of this year so this is going to have an impact on CFS students starting in July and new students to CUP SSSL as they will not be able to complete at the end of SSSL ready for Feb 2022.

DISTANCE students in either programme with a Science pathway will have difficulty finding elective choices as we are not offering Foundation Chem or Foundation Physics by DIST (internal only).

College of Health

BACHELOR OF SOCIAL WORK

The School of Social Work will be changing the Bachelor of Social Work core course offerings in Auckland to block mode in 2022. Block mode retains face to face teaching and does this on specific days across the semester rather than at regularly scheduled classes each week, so students are still getting that on-campus in-person learning experience, but in a different timetable format.

Massey Business Studies Day

Date TBC week of August 9th

This online event contextualizes the business curriculum with real-life examples... students can see what real business looks like! Industry representatives will explain the services they provide and give colourful examples of what does and doesn't work! The seminar provides learnings for Business Studies students and will be based around NCEA standards 3.1, 3.2 and 3.3.

This event will be live on the day and recorded for classroom use. More details to follow. Please register your interest at <https://masseyuni.wufoo.com/forms/massey-business-studies-day-2021/>

Massey Business School

BRINGING THE CURRICULUM TO LIFE - A MIX OF CONTEXTUAL AND APPLIED LEARNING AT ITS BEST.

Massey Accounting, Economics, and Finance webinar 2021 Thursday July 1 on-line: 9am – 1.45pm

This complimentary seminar for Year 12 & 13 Accounting, Economics and Finance students brings to life the accounting techniques and practises learned in the classroom, to a real-world NZ business. It is designed to prepare students for the critical thinking necessary for the NZQA Scholarship accounting exam – however Accounting, Economics and Finance students of all levels will benefit from attending.

Our panel of experts from Massey Business School, Scales Corporation and the university team from the CFA NZ Research Challenge will provide in depth analysis, management and company reporting, an economic overview (particularly useful this year as we review the effect of Covid on our economy) The live event includes opportunities for students attending live to win pizza lunch for their class (on a day of their choice) and a brief overview of career options in Finance and Accounting.

This event is streamed live on the day and will also be recorded as a teacher resource for use in your classroom. We invite you and your students to attend this popular event. Please register to receive the link to attend &/or view the recording via Wufoo <https://masseyuni.wufoo.com/forms/accounting-economics-finance-2021/>

Meet George Truebridge

Bachelor of Nursing

It's International Nurses Day and we want to say a massive thank you to all the nurses out there and the contribution they make every day to keep us safe – often at risk to their own health and hauora.

George Truebridge graduated with a Bachelor of Nursing in Manawātū last week. We spoke with George to get some insight into what it means to be a nurse and what's next for him career wise after graduating.

What does being a nurse mean to you?

Nursing was never my first choice for a career, but when the opportunity came and I raised the idea to myself, something sat right with me. It was the care, support, and relationships that I could provide people. To me, it's giving people the opportunity to improve themselves so that they can improve their own people, family, and community around them.

My philosophy in nursing is that in order to provide meaningful care for people, we must build meaningful relationships and understand the person as a whole, what are their core values, what does health mean to them? It is sometimes easy to assume how health issues come about, but no doubt there are wider issues in someone's life at the core of the problem.

Why did you choose to study at Massey?

Well for one it was the amazing campus in the Manawātū. It was such a nice place to study and walk around when I was heading to classes. Secondly, the entrepreneurial spirit and passion to make sure students get the best out of their study, really attracted me to Massey. The lecturers and staff are so driven which had a massive flow on effect for me.

When did you know you wanted to study Nursing?

I knew only a few months before I enrolled with Massey. I think the experiences that I had the privilege of having before university naturally channelled me into becoming a nurse. It was a hard decision, nursing is more than just a job, it's a lifestyle, but if I can continue to change and save lives so that my patients have the ability to change themselves, then this is the career for me.

What are your career goals?

Ultimately my goal is to become a Nurse Practitioner. But what I really want to do with my career is be able to care for and educate people about their own health and the health of others and their communities. I would love to do some relief work overseas, particularly Africa, where I can truly experience how the things that we may take for granted can mean so much to others.

What's next for you?

Right now, I'll continue my work at Palmerston North Hospital in the orthopaedic surgical ward. Gaining a good foundational knowledge and skillset from a public hospital setting will set me up well for my ambitions in the future. New graduate nurses go through so much stress moving into the nursing work force, no matter how prepared we are. For me, I'd rather build good skills and relationships now so I know I can give the best care possible.

Thanks George, we wish you all the best for your future.
