Purpose

The Institute of Education Postgraduate Pathways Scholarship supports high performing postgraduate students to undertake strategically valuable research as part of a master's degree in the Institute of Education at Massey University.

Background

Institute of Education staff are actively engaged in a diverse range of research on significant educational questions. There is a strong focus on providing high quality research and professional training pathway experiences for postgraduate students. The Institute can provide an authentic training pathway by including recipients as members of one of the research teams, and by supporting recipients to make a practical contribution to scholarly and professional knowledge.

Value and Tenure

The value of the scholarship is up to $5,000 to be paid towards tuition fees. The exact award amount may vary depending on the recipient's individual circumstances. Where there is more than one outstanding applicant the award may be shared equally.

The tenure is one year.

Typical Number on Offer

Typically, three awards are available annually:

- Kia Mārama Postgraduate Pathway Scholarship; for applicant's who identify as Māori or are undertaking research in the area of Māori education.
- Growing Pearls of Wisdom Postgraduate Pathway Scholarship; for applicants who identify as Pacific or are undertaking research in the area of Pacific education.

- Postgraduate Pathway Scholarship

Eligibility

Applicants must be entering the research component of a master's degree within the Institute of Education in the year of award. For a list of eligible research courses, see below.

Applicants are expected to have discussed a research project or topic with a member of staff prior to applying for the scholarship.

Selection Criteria

Selection will be primarily based on applicants:

- highlighting the potential impact and or sphere of influence of the research (school/education setting, region, community, country), and how this may be achieved
- demonstrating how completing the research will contribute to achieving their career goals in education
- demonstrating the relevance of their study to Massey University's goal of being a Tiriti o Waitangi-led tertiary institution
- for the Pearls of Wisdom Scholarship – promoting research that is Pacific centred, with Pacific methodologies/methods, with high impact for Pacific communities

Applicant's GPA and intended research alignment with staff and support from the project leader will also be taken into consideration.

Selection Committee

The scholarship is awarded by the University Scholarships Advisory Committee on the recommendation of an Institute of Education selection panel consisting of the Director of Academic Programmes, a Māori staff member and a Pacific staff member, the postgraduate thesis coordinator and any other academic staff members as required to represent both campuses.
