Head of School’s Report

It was another very successful year for the School of Accountancy (SoA) in 2016. The school, only the third in Australia and New Zealand, has been recognised with the prestigious AACSB (Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business) accountancy accreditation for the accountancy undergraduate, master’s and doctoral degree programmes. Enrolment numbers have increased for both domestic and international students, school staff have been productive in research, and school staff and students continue to be highly engaged through school and community activities, clubs and events.

In mid-April, the school had a very successful visit by an international team of distinguished peer reviewers as the key part of our application for AACSB-Accounting accreditation. The school collectively worked hard in preparation for the review panel’s three-day visit, which was rewarded by their praise of the school and accountancy programmes. The panel’s feedback was that the review was one of the “easiest” they had ever experienced because the visit was so well organised and access to necessary information was made so seamless. Many strengths, innovations and unique features were also commended by the review panel including: how well the distance papers are resourced, taught and accessed, the presence of the School’s Advisory Board, the introduction of the Master of Professional Accountancy and Finance, the Community Accountancy initiative, the Stream Learning Management System, and the effective and proactive teaching and learning centre with faculty staff, who continue to sustain research productivity. As a newly accredited member, the school now enters the continuous improvement review process, which will be scheduled for 2019-2020. (Refer to page 5 for more details including the letter of accreditation.)

The Accountancy Clubs on both the Auckland and Manawatu campuses continued to be very active throughout the year. Both clubs organised numerous workshops, seminars, social nights and presentations in 2016, with the support of many professional bodies such as CPA Australia, XERO, ACCA, and CA ANZ.

The Palmerston North Community Accountancy’s second year has also been very busy. The 15 students who were involved with Community Accountancy have helped numerous not-for-profit community organisations around the Manawatu with clinics, training sessions, as well as, providing financial advice. These activities were supported by professional accountants who supervised and mentored the students.

In March 2016, a research report entitled “Information Needs of Users of New Zealand Capital Markets Entity Reports” was released by the External Reporting Board (XRB), (the statutory body responsible for financial reporting and assurance standards in New Zealand). The research was conducted on behalf of the XRB, by a School of Accountancy team comprising Prof Fawzi Laswad, Dr Warwick Stent, Dr Nives Botica-Redmayne and Dr Cai Lei. Later in the year, the same research team won a second contract grant with the XRB, and are working on “Information and Assurance Needs of Users of For-profit Tier 2 Entity Reports”, which is expected to be completed in mid-2017.

Senior Lecturer, Dr Nives Botica Redmayne, jointly organised the 2016 Comparative International Governmental Accounting Research (CIGAR) Network Workshop and PhD Colloquium in Wellington from 7-9 July. Chaired by Professor Mike Bradbury, it was the first such event on comparative governmental accounting research held in Southern Hemisphere, with a mission to promote worldwide discussion and research on comparative governmental accounting.

During 2016, we welcomed two new staff members to the Manawatu campus, Dr Ernest Gyapong and David Sutton. Sadly, the school also said farewell to Research Assistant, Sim Loo, who retired after 25 years of service. We wish Sim a happy retirement.

We celebrated the promotions of Ahsan Habib to Professor, Matthew Berkahn to Associate Professor, Frances Chua to Senior Lecturer, and Christelle Roos to Senior Tutor, as well as commending Dr Frances Chua on successfully completing her PhD thesis “Discourse Analysis of Corporate Codes of Ethics” in 2016.
The school had another productive year for research, with 25 published articles in refereed journals such as the New Zealand Journal of Tax, Australian Accounting Review and Accounting & Business Research. One book, and four book chapters, and two commissioned reports were published; and 31 papers were presented at national and international conferences and two commissioned reports were published.

We look back at 2016 as a positive and productive academic year for the School of Accountancy. In 2017, we will strive for continuous improvements to further enhance our reputation as a leader in education, research, and engagement in Accounting and Business Law. The school will continue to focus on moving forward with incorporating technology to enhance student learning and further develop our international reputation and partnerships.

School’s Mission Statement

Vision
Massey University School of Accountancy aims to be recognised as a leader in accounting and business law education and research.

Mission
To provide quality accounting and business law education that provides a foundation for career success for our graduates; to conduct and disseminate applied research; and to contribute positively to the accounting profession, the University, and the wider community.

Values (Guiding Principles)
To achieve our mission the School will:
• Be student focused:
  o Ensure its student education programmes are relevant and up-to-date.
  o Encourage alternative modes of delivery and learning.
• Be supportive of its staff:
  o Provide staff with opportunities for personal development.
  o Maintain quality and uphold professional standards.
  o Encourage and support staff research.
• Reinforce and promote the University’s strategic goals.
• Embrace Equal Employment Opportunities principles.
• Recognise the Treaty of Waitangi.
• Maintain transparent and inclusive (participative) management systems.

School Goals and Objectives
The School seeks to be recognised as a quality provider of accounting and business law education and research. It will attain this vision through realising goals and objectives in the following key areas: education, research, and contribution to the profession, the University, and the wider community.
Student Education

Goal
To provide quality learning that develops and encourages the capabilities, potential and intellectual independence of students, on a life-long basis, through open entry and blended education both on and off campus.

Objectives
- To develop students’ communication, analytical, and critical thinking skills.
- To develop students' understanding of ethical standards and ethical dilemmas, and improve their ethical judgement.
- To support continuous improvement through a rigorous programme of evaluation and assessment.
- To reinforce strong commitment to research-led teaching and scholarship.
- To provide all students access to on-line educational opportunities, support tools and pedagogy of a high standard.
- To ensure that accounting and business law programmes are delivered to allow flexible learning and the integration of new technologies into the creation and design of curricula.
- To ensure that all papers, regardless of the campus or mode of delivery, provide students with access to excellent education, supported by effective quality systems and, where relevant, with appropriate national and international accreditation.

Research

Goal
To advance the reputation and performance of the School as a research unit of international standing.

Objectives
- To give a high priority to the development of comprehensive research capability on all campuses.
- To target publication in quality journals ranked as B or higher.
- To encourage applied research and scholarship in the pursuit of academic excellence and to recognise and reward outstanding achievement.
- To place a high priority on the support and resourcing of researchers, research groups and research activities and to promote emerging researchers through mentoring.
- To promote emerging researchers through mentoring.
- To increase the numbers of students undertaking postgraduate research programmes and the level of scholarship and other support available to them.

Contribution to the Profession, the University and the Wider Community

Goal
To contribute to the profession, the university and wider community.

Objectives
- To contribute to the development of the profession by actively contributing to and participating in professional activities.
- To contribute to the university by providing quality accounting and business law education.
- To contribute to the wider community by being a source of expertise and advice.
AACSB Accreditation

In June 2016, the School of Accountancy at Massey University was accredited by the AACSB International. The School is one of only three institutions in New Zealand and Australia awarded the prestigious AACSB International accreditation. Only ten other institutions outside the USA have achieved this distinction. (See page 6 for AACSB Letter to the School of Accountancy.)

The Process of AACSB Accreditation

1. The School submitted an eligibility application, which was accepted by AACSB (2011).
2. A standard alignment plan was developed and submitted (2012).
3. Progress reports were submitted and accepted by AACSB Accounting Accreditation Committee (AAC) (2013-2014).
4. In response to an invitation, the School submitted an application seeking initial accounting accreditation which was reviewed and approved by AACSB staff (2014).
5. AACSB appointed a Peer Review Team.
6. When the application was approved, the school commenced developing a Self-Evaluation Report (SER), which was submitted with its Strategic Plan to the Accounting Accreditation Committee (AAC) (2015).
7. The AAC reviewed the Self Evaluation Report and decided to proceed with initial Accreditation review visit.
8. The visit took place and the Peer Review Team delivered a visit report to the school (2016).
9. Recommendations for accreditation were ratified by the AAC and ratified by AACSB Board of Directors.

The Continuing Benefits of AACSB Accreditation for the School

- Enhanced national and international recognition and strategic advantage;
- Further access to, and facilitation of, international benchmarking and networking;
- Enhanced outcomes and innovation in teaching and learning, research and scholarship;
- Assurance of quality to prospective students, employers and other stakeholders; and
- Maintenance of our rigorous programme of strategic development and continuous improvement.

About AACSB International

Founded in 1916, AACSB International (The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business) is an association of more than 711 educational institutions, businesses, and other organizations in 47 countries and territories. AACSB’s mission is to advance quality management education worldwide through accreditation, thought leadership, and value-added services. As the premier accreditation body for institutions offering undergraduate, master’s, and doctorate degrees in business and accounting, the association also conducts a wide array of conferences and seminar programs at locations throughout the world. AACSB’s global headquarters are located in Tampa, Florida, USA, and its Asia Pacific headquarters are located in Singapore.

Dear Dean Zorn and Professor Laswad,

It is my pleasure to inform you that the Peer Review Team’s recommendation for initial accreditation of the undergraduate, master’s, and doctoral degree programs in accounting offered by Massey University has been concurred with by the Accounting Accreditation Committee and ratified by the Board of Directors. Congratulations to you, the faculty, students, staff, and all supporters of the accounting programs. On behalf of the members of the Accreditation Council, I welcome Massey University as a new accounting member.

One purpose of the peer review process is to stimulate further continuous improvement of quality accounting programs. As noted in the team report, the school is commended on the following strengths, innovations, and unique features:

1. The Head of School is outstanding: innovative, well-organized, tireless, visionary, a man of integrity, and a careful steward of the resources entrusted to him. The team commends the HOS for the completeness and clarity of the SER, for the electronic availability of supporting materials and access to the school intranet, and for organizing an informative visit that exposed the team to a diverse group of faculty, students, and professional staff. The Head’s careful documentation of strategic planning and AoL that the processes are sustainable.

2. Massey’s Equivalence Policy ensures that distance papers are resourced, taught, and assessed in a way that guarantees that distance student achieve the same learning outcomes and have equivalent learning experiences to on-campus students. Distance learning provides educational opportunities for motivated individuals throughout New Zealand and is value by on-campus students for the flexibility provided.

3. An SOA Advisory Board was formed in 2014. The Advisory Board helps the SOA ensure graduates have the technical and soft skills needed to succeed in professional accounting careers. The Board contributed to revision of the SOA’s strategic plan and the preparation of the SER.

4. In 2013 the School of Accountancy and the School of Economics and Finance introduced the Master of Professional Accountancy and Finance. It is the only combined accounting and finance degree offered in New Zealand. The programme's enrollment has increased rapidly. It was created in response to demand from international students.

5. The SOA recently established the Community Accounting Initiative. The initiative provides accounting expertise to the Palmerston North not-for-profit community and gives students an opportunity to apply their accounting skills. There are plans to start a similar initiative in Auckland.

6. The Stream Learning Management System is an effective and efficient platform for sharing material and facilitating electronic communication among students and between faculty and students.

7. The SOA continues to implement a strategy of ensuring newly hired faculty are, or are close to being doctorally qualified and that faculty sustain research productivity. Three existing faculty become doctorally qualified during the self-assessment period.

8. The SOA carefully monitors grade distributions and making comparisons across campuses and delivery methods to ensure the quality of educational outcomes.

9. The SOA has an effective and proactive teaching and learning centre.

In the interest of continuous improvement, the School of Accountancy at Massey University should closely monitor the following item, as identified within the Peer Review Team Report, and incorporate it into ongoing strategic planning initiatives:

- In the next iteration of your strategic plan, include timelines for attainment of goals and a somewhat longer horizon for your plan. Additionally, document how all stakeholders are included in the process. (Standard A1: Accounting Academic Unit Mission, Impact, and Innovation)

As a newly accredited member, Massey University has achieved accounting accreditation and now enters the continuous improvement review process. The next on-site continuous improvement review will occur in 2019-20. Please note that your Continuous Improvement Review Application will be due on July 1st, 2017. This application initiates the continuous improvement review process and is expected to provide progress on the strategic management initiatives at your school, with a particular focus on those continuous improvement items identified during your review. Please refer to the Continuous Improvement Review Handbook for more information regarding the processes for the continuous improvement review.

Again, congratulations from the Accreditation Council and AACSB International - The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business.

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Discussion Paper Series

Editor: Professor Jill Hooks

The Discussion Paper Series of the School of Accountancy is intended to provide staff and postgraduate students of the School with a means of communicating new and developing ideas in order to facilitate academic debate. Discussion papers should not necessarily be taken as completed works or final expressions of opinion.

All discussion papers are quality-assured, being formally peer-reviewed prior to publication. Views expressed are those of the authors, and are not necessarily shared by the School of Accountancy.

Normally discussion papers may be freely quoted or reproduced provided proper reference to the author and source is given. When a discussion paper is issued on a restricted basis, notice of an embargo on quotation/reproduction will appear on this page.

The Discussion Paper Series started in 1981. Abstracts of all discussion papers, as well as full papers, are available as pdf documents on our School’s webpage (link below) or, for a hard copy please contact:

Abstract of PhD research completed in 2016

Frances Chua
Disclosure of corporate code of ethics

There have been increasing calls for corporate governance reforms in countries engaged in capitalistic pursuits in the past few decades. Subsumed in these calls is the drive to restore public interest and to promote better ethics among business professionals. In an era of increasing emphasis on corporate accountability, pressures for corporate betterment come not only from those who purportedly have a "stake" in corporations but also from the corporations themselves. This is reflected in the increasing number of corporations producing codes of ethics to show their ethical commitments.

Research into corporate codes of ethics has identified a variety of reasons why corporations produce codes of ethics. Most of such reasons tend to be functional and descriptive in nature and are not sufficiently insightful in their explanations. The purpose of this study is to go beyond functionality and provide a better understanding of the underlying reasons for ethical disclosures by corporations. Institutional theory is adopted to explain the conceptual component of the study, which includes a critical examination of the intricate relationships between business ethics and trust, the pressures confronting corporations, the prevalence of corporate codes of ethics, and the various reasons for code adoption. A set of propositions focused on the underlying reasons for code disclosures by companies is developed and their validity will be tested empirically by examining the ethics disclosures of the top 1000 U.S. companies between 2000 and 2010. It is hoped that such an analysis will help to explain the actions taken by the corporations to increase their ethics and trust propensity in light of regulatory guidance and any other motivations.

Firms’ financial accounting and assurance practices under Australian Carbon Tax and New Zealand’s Emission Trading Scheme: An exploratory study

The purpose of this study is to survey the carbon financial accounting practices of the companies affected under Australian Carbon Tax and New Zealand’s Emission Trading Scheme (ETS). It will present the findings as guidance on carbon financial accounting in the absence of a uniform standard. Added to this survey will be an examination of the relation between (1) firms’ characteristics; (2) firms’ carbon emission levels carbon emissions related disclosures and the way carbon accounting is being conducted in the affected companies. The findings presented by this study will be useful for establishing a guideline for accountants and auditors to help affected companies financially account for carbon allowances. The findings will also be useful to accounting policy makers in understanding how and why the affected companies financially account for their carbon allowances in a certain way. This can further help the accounting policy makers in developing a uniform carbon financial accounting guidance, given that IASB is yet to issue draft guidance on the financial accounting of carbon emission. Lastly, with the scant amount of literature available in the field of financial accounting and assurance of carbon emissions under Carbon Tax and ETS, this project will also give meaningful insight to academics and researchers to further their studies into this subject.

Related party transactions, political connections and financial reporting quality in Indonesia

The recent corporate collapses in the US and other parts of the world have caused serious concerns about the credibility of financial reporting. The low quality of financial reporting is caused by corporate frauds and manipulation. One of the mechanisms used by companies to conduct those fraudulent activities is through related party transactions (RPTs). Concerns are raised for RPTs because RPTs might not take place in arm’s length conditions and the dominant company might use its power to arrange transactions with its less dominant affiliates so that the former might achieve income reporting objectives. The motivation for this study relates to some unique institutional features of Indonesia. Indonesia has a high concentration on ownership which might have a negative impact on corporate governance and reliability of accounting information. In addition, it is quite common practice in Indonesia that most of top management is connected to the family of controlling shareholders so that the agency problem is not between shareholders and management but between controlling shareholders and minority interests in the form of expropriation. Some research claims that the values of some firms in Indonesia are highly influenced by political connections. The objective of the study is to broaden understanding of the effect of RPTs as a mechanism for tunnelling or propping up, conducted by politically connected firms in Indonesia. Different from previous studies on RPTs, political connections and audit quality issues will be considered. The outcome of this study will provide analyses and evidence about whether RPTs are being used by controlling shareholders to manage earnings of their listed firms in the Indonesian Stock Exchange. In addition, the research will shed light on the governance role played by external auditors for ensuring credible financial reporting in Indonesia.

Disclosure quality, audit fee and market performance of firms connected with power sources

Organisations often form ties with sources of power to attain an indirect authority to influence others outside the organisation (Hillman, 2005). Prior literature has identified political institutions as the main sources of power, therefore, companies connected to politicians. My thesis is based on the argument that political institutions are not the only source of power. For example, Bhave and Kingstone (2010) identify the Pakistan Army as another source of power. Siddiq (2007) argues that Pakistan military controls 7% of the national GDP, controls one third of heavy manufacturing, and controls 6-7% of private sector assets. Similarly, Khwaja and Mian (2005) argue that regardless of their 42% higher default rate, politically connected firms in Pakistan are preferentially treated by banks in terms of access to credit. My thesis aims to examine the relative differences in disclosure quality, audit fee, directors’ remuneration, and market performance of firms connected to the two (the political and the army) parallel power sources.

Income statement classification by International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS): The prediction of earnings and component shifting

This study investigates the International Financial Reporting Standards income statement classifications related to Other Comprehensive Income (OCI) and Discontinued Operations (DCO). These classifications give managers the discretion to shift expenses within comprehensive income. I examine if these classifications improve the forecasting of profitability or whether these classifications are opportunistically used by managers. This topic is academically motivated by Accounting classification and the predictive content of earnings by Fairfield, Sweeney and Yohn (1996) and Earnings management using classification shifting: An examination of core earnings and special items by McVay (2006). This will be the first study that combines the methodologies in both these papers and also applies them to discontinued operations and items of other comprehensive income. The study is professionally motivated because the International Accounting Standards Board has a project on performance reporting. Items of OCI are part of the discussions on the revision of the conceptual framework. Data will be collected from the ASX listed companies’ comprehensive income statements between 2005 and 2013. There are more than 2000 companies listed in the ASX and the total sample will be around 18000 firm/year data (2000*9years).

The perception of the needs for generic skills among accounting graduates, accounting educators and employers: A comparison between Saudi Arabia and New Zealand

With the development in economic environment and technologies as well as an increase in business challenges, employers have increasingly emphasised the need for accounting graduates to acquire generic skills at tertiary education. However, an overview of the literature on generic skills suggest that generic skills developed within accounting education courses do not match market requirements (e.g. Albrecht and Sack, 2000; De Lange et al., 2006; Hawkers, 2003). Generic skills are certainly of importance to accounting graduates as they help them to stand out among other job seekers and advance their careers (Awe, 2014). The aim of this study is to examine and compare the perceptions of accounting graduates, accounting educators and employers on generic skills in New Zealand (a developed country) and Saudi Arabia (a developing country). First, it will explore what do accounting lecturers provide in developing generic skills in the university and what they believe that accounting graduates receive and require in terms of generic skills that can meet the needs of Saudi and New Zealand employers. Second, this study will identify the most important generic skills for accounting graduates, and whether they achieve them at the university and whether these skills meet the expectations of employers. Third, it will examine from the Saudi and New Zealand employers’ perspective what they expect accounting graduates should have in terms of generic skills, to satisfy workplace requirements. A conceptual framework of generic skills is developed for this study. The study will contribute to the literature an understanding of the perceptions of the importance of generic skills by employers, accounting educators, accounting graduates in two different countries with different cultural dimensions (Hofstede’s cultural dimension theory) and economic development. Moreover, this study would contribute to bridging the gap between education at university and the workplace in the development of generic skills of accounting graduates.

Analysis of the usefulness of deferred tax pre and post IFRS

Deferred tax has been described as pointless in the sense that deferred taxes measure something that has no practical application or purpose and that many professional directors do not regard this accounting entry as a real liability in the economic sense (NBR August 2010). This thesis examines whether deferred tax: (1) provides incremental information about future tax payments and (2) is value relevant. I use the Cheung, Cheung, Krishnan and Min (1997) one year ahead model to assess the predictive value of deferred tax and the Wong, Wong and Naiker (2011) model to assess its value relevance. Both the pre and post International Financial Reporting Standards (‘IFRS’) settings are examined. Pre IFRS the firms are free to choose between the comprehensive and partial basis for calculating deferred tax using the income statement method. Post IFRS firms are required to use the balance sheet method.

Accounting complexity, audit quality and financial analyst forecasting in Australia

The main objective of this study is to investigate the impact of accounting complexity arising from International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) on Audit risks (by proxy of Audit price) and analysis of forecasting properties in Australia. Extant literature on IFRS however raises some questions as to whether it’s objective and desired outcomes are being achieved. This study takes a different approach from the extant literature by refining the measurement of accounting complexity in order to offer deeper insights regarding complex standards and how these are affecting auditors and analysts. I select six standards identified in the literature as complex standards and then use the year-end adjustment taken from AGAAP-AIFRS reconciliation statements of all Australian listed companies as a measure the IFRS complexity. I use this measure to examine the relationship between complex standards and audit risk as proxied by audit fees. This study therefore has the potential to offer deeper insights regarding complex standards and how these are affecting auditors and analysts. Finally, this study investigates how the relationship between accounting complexity and financial analyst forecasting properties are moderated by auditor quality. This study use auditor industry specialisation following the measurement of (Krishnan, Chan, & Qian, 2013) as proxy for audit quality. Australia is chosen for this study because the Australian Accounting Standards Board (AASB) did not allow early adoption of IFRS. Australia has been a leader in the adoption of IFRS and actively participate in the process to have IFRS accepted as a set of accounting standards that could be globally accepted (Lucy, 2005).

Online shopping: Pearls and pitfalls for New Zealand consumers – How to increase consumer protection and confidence

The general theme of my study will be to identify the legal issues faced by consumers shopping online and to develop ideas for improving consumer protection and confidence in online shopping. An increase in consumer confidence should lead to an increase in the levels of retail shopping online which would have flow-on economic benefits. Recent reports and surveys in New Zealand and Australia show that online shopping currently makes up 5-6% of all retail shopping and increased by around 12% in Australia in the 12 months ending in July 2011. With the level at between 5 and 6% of all retail shopping there is scope for significant further growth in online shopping. Online shopping has significant economic benefits for retailers – among other things, they do not need to lease expensive retail space, they have reduced overhead costs and their customers can shop all hours. These benefits can lead to reduced prices for consumers and more shopping choices. An OECD report released in November 2009 notes, “Given the significant benefits of e-commerce to the economy and to consumers, it is important for governments and stakeholders to work together to ensure that the benefits are fully realised, which includes finding ways to boost consumer confidence in online transactions.”

Patching up the differences: An exploration of gang identity in Whanganui

This research will explore adult NZ gang identity and the ways that visible signs of this identity have been interpreted by members of the Whanganui community. This research arose as a result of the District Council (Prohibition of Gang Insignia) Act 2009 (‘Gang Insignia Act 2009’) which allows the Whanganui District Council to make bylaws prohibiting the wearing of gang insignia in certain areas. The ‘Gang Insignia Act 2009’ reflects a view that the wearing of gang insignia should be considered a social problem that requires legal intervention. My research will adopt a social constructionist perspective and will seek to discover the meanings attributed to gang insignia by members of the Whanganui community, how these meanings have developed, and the consequences arising from adopting the legislative meaning. My research will involve an analysis of media representations of ‘gangs’ alongside semi-structured interviews with gang members, the public, and other relevant parties in Whanganui.
The School of Accountancy Research Seminar Series provides a valuable forum for researchers to share their research ideas, findings and policy recommendations in a variety of areas of accounting and business law. In this way they can share their ideas with, and receive feedback from, the academic community as well as the wider public, including professionals. By providing an informal atmosphere that allows for active discussion, the seminar series is designed to benefit not only the presenters but also the participants. In addition, for members of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of New Zealand, attendance at the Seminar Series qualifies as Structured Continuing Professional Development (CPD). Working Papers presented are available on the School’s website or from Emma O’Sullivan (e.o’sullivan@massey.ac.nz).

Seminars are usually held on Wednesday from 12pm to 1pm. Subject to availability of a suitable time slot, the School will contribute towards travel costs and accommodation (where appropriate) for visiting speakers from outside Albany and Manawatū. If you wish to present a paper in the series, please contact the appropriate seminar convenor.

Massey Business School Research Translation Competition

Massey Business School (MBS) is proud of its reputation for research that is relevant and has impact. The purpose of its annual Research Translation Competition (RTC) is to promote the relevance, robustness, and creativity of that work to its external stakeholders. It also builds staff capabilities in terms of communicating research to a non-specialist audience.

This year, seven written submissions were selected to be presented at the College Research celebration on the 2nd December and were assessed anonymously by three judges, comprising a business executive, an external relation specialist and a business academic. Michael Bradbury from the School of Accountancy was the author of one of the three papers awarded:

Second Prize:

Community Accounting

The Community Accounting initiative has been coordinated by the Palmerston North Community Services Council (PNCSC) with the support of Massey University, Palmerston North City Council, Department of Internal Affairs and the local branch of Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand.

Community Accounting involves second and third year students in providing financial advice to not-for-profit community organisations under the supervision of chartered accountants. The School participated and supported the initiative to enable students to gain valuable experience and be good citizens.

Community Accounting has had a successful second year with students participating in Community Accounting, and clinics and training sessions for treasurers of community groups while also providing accounting advice to not-for-profit entities.

School Highlights 2016

January

The staff on the Manawatū Campus welcomed the new academic year with a morning tea.

Later in January they also had an early celebration of Chinese New Year, welcoming the year of the Monkey, with a Chinese Lunch organised by the School in the staff room.

The school celebrated the contribution of long serving academic staff member Trish O’Sullivan, Senior Lecturer in Business Law in the School of Accountancy, on completing 20 years with Massey University.

The Defining Excellence Awards were held at the Rendezvous Hotel, Auckland, to acknowledge our top research and teaching staff, along with graduates who have achieved major success in their professions or industries or made outstanding community contributions.
Massey University was once again ranked by QS as one of the top 100 universities in the world for Finance and Accounting.

A research report entitled “Information Needs of Users of New Zealand Capital Markets Entity Reports” was released on 2 March 2016 by the External Reporting Board (XRB), the statutory body responsible for financial reporting and assurance standards in New Zealand. The research was conducted on behalf of the XRB, by a School of Accountancy team comprising Prof Fawzi Laswad, Dr Warwick Stent, Dr Nives Botica-Redmayne and Dr Cai Lei. The full report and a summary report may be found at: https://www.xrb.govt.nz/Site/Research/Chairmans_Research_Introduction.aspx

Albany Senior Tutor, Siata Tavita, was on hand to assist the Massey University stall in the two-day ASB Polyfest held on 18 and 19 March. The festival also had a special visit from Princess Salote Mafle’o Piliotevui Tuita of Tonga and her husband Lord Tuita.

April

The Massey University Accountancy Club (MUAC) – Albany was a part of a great event on 20 April. The “Meet the Professionals” panel session, supported by CPA Australia, featured guest speakers, Reesan Naidoo ASA from KPMG and Vanessa Black CPA from Grant Thornton, who shared their career insights.

The School celebrated a very successful visit on 11-13 April, by an international team of distinguished peer reviewers as the key part of their application for AACSB-Accounting accreditation. Three AACSB accreditation reviewers, Professor Mary Stone (Chair), Professor Sue Newberry and Professor Betty Chavis, had a full schedule of meetings and discussions for the visitors with staff of the School as well as the PVC, staff of MBS, accountancy students and other stakeholders of the School. The full report of the AACSB Peer Review Team is available for review here.

Professor Fawzi Laswad, Dr Nives Botica Redmayne, Dr Charlie Cai, Dr Dimu Ehalaie, and Dr Warwick Stent won a second research contract with the External Reporting Board. The grant will be looking at ‘Researching Financial Information and Assurance Needs of Users of For-profit Tier 2 Entity Reports’.

Another great event hosted by CPA Australia “Meet the Professional” held mid-May, with the Massey University Accountancy Club - MUAC - Manawatū. Huge thanks to David Lanham CPA, Chief Executive of Palmerston North Airport, and Chris McNae ASA, Investigator at Inland Revenue for sharing their career insights.
The School welcomed Emma O’Sullivan in mid-June, who joined us as Strategic Projects Officer. Emma is based on the Palmerston North campus and will support the administration team within the school.

>> School of Accountancy has been accredited by AACSB <<

The Pro Vice Chancellor and the Head of School received a letter (dated 30 June 2016) confirming the recommendation of the undergraduate, master’s, and doctoral degree programmes in accounting offered by Massey University has been concurred with by the Accounting Accreditation Committee (AACSB) and ratified by the Board of Directors. The school now enters the continuous improvement process where the next on-site review will occur in 2019-20.

Massey University School of Accountancy and Victoria University School of Accounting and Commercial Law successfully conducted the 2016 Comparative International Governmental Accounting Research (CIGAR) Network Workshop and PhD Colloquium in Wellington from 7-9 July – 9 July. The event was jointly organised by Dr Nives Botica Redmayne (Massey University), and Professor Rachel Baskerville and Dr Rodney Dormer (Victoria University). Chaired by Professor Mike Bradbury (Massey University), it was the first such event on comparative governmental accounting research held in the Southern Hemisphere. CIGAR Network’s mission is to promote worldwide discussion and research on governmental accounting. Fifty people from a number of countries (e.g. Australia, Canada, Croatia, Czech Republic, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malta, Norway, Portugal, Russia, Thailand, Ukraine, New Zealand and the UK) and New Zealand attended the event. The Hon. Bill English, Minister of Finance, opened and addressed the workshop. Keynote speakers included Ken Warren (Treasury) and Lyn Provost (New Zealand Auditor-General), and a number of public sector CEOs were panellists. ACCA, XRB, CAANZ, and CPA Australia also sponsored the event.

The Manawatu campus Accountancy Club (MUAC) organised a successful XERO workshop at the end of June.

The School has released its updated study plan via an updated brochure for the BAcc/Bus (Acc) and MPAF.

August

After working at Massey for 25 years (April 1991), the school celebrated the retirement of Research Assistant, Sim Loo, with a farewell morning tea held on Friday 29 August, which included a group photo for her as a keepsake.

The Accountancy Club at Albany campus (MUAC- Albany) had a successful and well attended workshop on Business Etiquette, supported by CAANZ, on 11 August.

Palmerston North was the setting for the first of three Open Day events in August. Hundreds of prospective students from throughout New Zealand visited the Turitea Campus to attend lectures, interactive workshops and school information hubs. The School of Accountancy’s Hub was staffed by Nikki, Inez and Emma, along with help from Frances Chua and Lindsey Hawkes throughout the day. The Accountancy workshop was led by Nirmala Nath.

Albany hosted Massey’s second Open Day on Saturday. Jess Watson and Andrew Brown flew up from Palmerston North to set up, and provide assistance to any student enquiries in the School’s hub. Warwick Stent led the Accountancy workshop with the help of some third year students.

On Wednesday 10 August the MUAC, presented by CPA, hosted a social quiz night.
September

In mid-September the School said farewell to Senior Tutor, Elana Stalmann, who has been with the School for eight years. Elana will be moving onto Massey’s Foundation programme.

A letter to BAcc students regarding 2017 regulations was released on 29 September. Following a review of the BAcc, the letter introduces some minor changes which will be introduced from 2017. These changes provide more flexibility and ensure academic requirements are met for professional bodies. Full details of the changes can be found here.

The Accountancy Club on the Albany campus (MUAC - Albany) organised a successful Xero workshop mid-September.
During September the Massey Business School Academic Excellence Award Ceremonies were held on all three campuses.

The Albany campus ceremony was held on Tuesday 13 September, with awards given out by Jill Hooks and Siata Tavite.

The Manawatū campus ceremony was held on Tuesday 20 September, with awards given out by Ngaire Kirk, Radiah Othman, Lindsay Trotman, Annelisa Usoalii-Phillips (CAANZ), and David Lanham (CPA Aus).

The Wellington Campus ceremony was held on Wednesday 21 September, with awards given out by Nikki Batten.
October

At the beginning of October, the school welcomed new Manawatū campus lecturer, Dr Ernest Gyapong. Ernest has a PhD from Griffith University (Australia) and a Master’s degree from Dundee University (UK). Ernest has teaching interests in the broader area of financial and management accounting and has taught these courses in the UK and Australia.

Held on Wednesday 5 October, the ACCA and Albany Accountancy Club held the information evening ‘Think Ahead’ which was an opportunity for students to interact and hear from industry professionals, including hearing from a guest speaker; Sabina Buza, Adviser - Auditor Insight, FMA.

Peter Kendricks wins the best student essay in a new Accountancy paper 110.369 - Forensic Accounting. The new papers include an assessment that involves students writing essays on ‘technology, fraud and the forensic investigator’. The paper coordinator, Dr Radiah Othman, selected the best five student essays to be reviewed by Peter Scholten, Forensic Analyst at MPI and Chairman of Forensic Accountants NZ.

Palmerston North Community Accounting (PNCA) organised Xero training on 13 October for not-for-profit community organisations. Jenna Hackland, a 2nd year accountancy student, volunteered and ran the workshop while supervised by Anna McKay, Chartered Accountant.

In mid-October the Albany Accountancy club celebrated the end of another successful year of professional and social events with an award ceremony for the executive members.

Academic Programmes and Accreditations

AACSB Accreditation

The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB) is a professional association for college and university management education institutions and is the premier accrediting agency for bachelor’s, master’s, and doctoral degree programs in business administration and accounting. Of around 10,000 business schools in the world, not many are accredited by AACSB International - The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. The accreditation represents the highest standard of achievement for business schools worldwide.

School of Accountancy

In 2016, the School of Accountancy was rewarded the AACSB accreditation for the undergraduate, master’s, and doctoral degree programmes. The school of one of only three institutions in New Zealand and Australia awarded this prestigious accreditation. Only ten other institutions outside the USA have achieved this distinction. The school now enters the continuous improvement process where the next on-site review will occur in 2019-20. (Refer to page 6 for the School’s letter of Accreditation).

Massey Business School

Massey Business School achieved the international accreditation in 2015 for its business degrees; Bachelor of Business (BBus), Bachelor of Accountancy (BAcc), Bachelor of Applied Economics (BAppEcon), Master of Business Administration (MBA), Master of Business Studies (MBS), Master of Finance (MFin) Master of Management (MMgmt), Doctor of Business Administration (DBA) and its Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) programme in business.

School of Accountancy Accreditations

The School of Accountancy has accreditation from the following professional bodies for the Bachelor of Accountancy (BAcc) and Bachelor of Business BBus (Acct):

- AACSB Accounting Accreditation
- Association of Chartered Certified Accountants (ACCA)
- Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand (CA ANZ) (formerly NZICA)
- Chartered Institute of Management Accountants (CIMA)
- Certified Practising Accountants (CPA) Australia

The Master of Professional Accounting and Finance (MPAF) is accredited by:

- ACCA (UK)
- CA ANZ
- CPA Australia
Academic Programmes

Semesters and Summer School

The Massey University academic year is divided into three main teaching periods: Semester One, Semester Two and Summer School. Most of the School’s programmes of study and courses fit into these standard semester periods. Some research courses cover a double semester period. The School’s Summer study programmes have become increasingly popular.

Internal and Distance Learning Studies

Some courses in the School are offered internally and some in Distance Learning mode. Distance Learning programmes offer opportunities for long distance study at the comfort of a student’s own environment. Distance Learning programmes may include block courses. However, these courses are being phased out as the School makes use of Digital Learning and Teaching through the Internet more frequently.

Undergraduate Programmes

Bachelor of Accountancy (BAcc)

The Bachelor of Accountancy (BAcc) is a highly specialised degree, identifying you as having expertise in accountancy. It is the degree for students who know they wish to specialise as Accountants and seek Chartered Accountants Australia and New Zealand or CPA Australia membership.

Accountancy Major in the Bachelor of Business (BBus Acc)

The BBus Accountancy major is very flexible and gives you the opportunity to have a concentration in a particular area of accountancy. You can also combine the Accountancy major with one offered by another department to complete the BBus with a double major. Career options will be many and varied depending on the combination of courses you choose to take.

Bachelor of Business Law minor

In 2015, the Business Law minor became part of the BBus programme. The goal of the minor as part of the BBus is to give students, in addition to skill sets in their major and those of the BBus as a whole, an enhanced knowledge of areas of business law. The objective is that, while not being able to supplant the role of the qualified lawyer, the graduate with the Business Law minor would be equipped to identify those situations where it is necessary to seek qualified legal assistance, and recognise when a proposed course of action or inaction could give rise to legal liabilities and to alert decision makers accordingly.

The courses that can be put towards the minor are listed here:
Graduate Diploma in Business Studies (GradDipBusStuds)

The Graduate Diploma in Business Studies (GradDipBusStuds) is designed for students who wish to develop new or additional professional skills to open up and enhance vocational possibilities. The GradDipBusStuds (Accounting) is designed to be completed over a period of time as part-time study.

Postgraduate Programmes

The courses of study offered by the School of Accountancy at the graduate level are aimed at preparing a more independent and inquiring mind. Through their course work, students are encouraged to conduct systematic inquiry into specific issues and discover new information or relationships and/or expand or verify existing knowledge for some identified purpose.

The School of Accountancy offers graduate programmes at Postgraduate Diploma and Masters levels, leading to:

- Doctor of Philosophy (PhD)
- Master of Philosophy (MPhil)
- Master of Business Studies (MBS)
- Master of Business Studies (Accountancy)
- Master of Management (MMgt)
- Master of Management (Accountancy)
- Master of Professional Accountancy and Finance (MPAF)
- Postgraduate Diploma in Business Administration (PGDipBusAdmin)
- Postgraduate Diploma of Accountancy (PGDipAcc)
- Bachelor of Business with Honours (BBus[Hons])
- Bachelor of Business with Honours (Accountancy)

The Master of Professional Accountancy and Finance (MPAF)

The MPAF is the only professional Master’s degree in New Zealand where the two popular disciplines, accountancy and finance, have been combined. Established in 2013, it is open to graduates with a Bachelor’s degree in any discipline and is available by block mode on the Albany campus or by distance learning.

For more information about the MPAF, contact: mpaf@massey.ac.nz or visit the Facebook page: www.facebook.com/MPAF.Massey.
