

INDUCTION CHECKLIST

What you need to do

Pre-Arrival

Have you:

	Researched relevant web pages to find out more about the university, the department you will be studying with (Appendix 1) and the campus you will be studying on (Appendix 2)
	Identified where your department is within the university (Appendix 2)
	Sent your supervisor your profile - This is a simple photo and paragraph about yourself and your research interests that your supervisor can share with others in your department. You should send this a couple of weeks before you arrive.
	Organised accommodation and researched related relevant living information (Appendix 2)
	Looked at all sections of the Provisional Registration form . This is the form that you must complete with your supervisor on arrival to be enrolled in your programme of study. By familiarising yourself with it beforehand means you will be more prepared to have the relevant discussion with your supervisor when you arrive, allowing you to complete it and enrol more promptly.
	Applied for a Student Identity Card . (You should start this process now to avoid delays though you will not actually receive the card until you are enrolled.)
	Advised your supervisor of your intended arrival time to ensure that he/she is on campus and available
	Provided the following information to the Graduate Research School (doctoral.applications@massey.ac.nz) at least one month before you plan to travel. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Name/Student ID • Date of arrival in New Zealand. • Flight details (please note transport to the campus is not provided) • Are you travelling alone? If no, who will be accompanying you (this will help International Student Support provide you with important information).

On arrival (within first two weeks)

Have you

	Present your passport, student visa and provide evidence that you have met the conditions as stated in your Offer of a PhD Place to the Campus Information Services.
	Completed the enrolment process (Completed the Application for Provisional Registration Form with your supervisor(s)). Please note: to be covered by the standard Studentsafe insurance offered through Massey you must be enrolled within 31 days of leaving your country otherwise you need to purchase additional insurance
	Paid any outstanding fees
	Visited your department
	Picked up your Student ID card from the Campus Information Services (CIS) team
	Found when the next Graduate Research School Induction Workshops are running which you can attend after enrolling. For further details please contact A.Boniface@massey.ac.nz or J.Rayner@massey.ac.nz

What/Who you need to know

A. Information relating to your doctoral study

The Graduate Research School will provide administrative support throughout your time as a doctoral candidate.

If you have questions about your admissions application please contact the Admissions Team (doctoral.applications@massey.ac.nz)

Once you are enrolled if you have questions about your candidacy, you can email doctoral.office@massey.ac.nz

The Dean of the Graduate Research School and Researcher Development has oversight of the Graduate Research School and can be contacted on Dean-GRS@massey.ac.nz

It is really important that you are familiar with the Doctoral Web Book as this outlines all you need to know about your degree, including your responsibilities as well as your supervisors' and Head of Department. It is also important to familiarise yourself with relevant policies and regulations.

- Any clubs/societies or social events that might be offered in the academic unit
- Location of Fire Wardens in area
- Location of First Aiders in area
- Parking (where applicable)

C. Academic and other support services across the university

Academic Support

Have you familiarised yourself with important services

The university has a range of services provided to support students in their studies. Some of these provide academic support through individual appointments or workshops such as the library and Centre for Teaching & Learning. You may need to seek advice about scholarships or ethics approval if your research requires this. There are also a range of services that support your health and well-being, and integration into campus life.
